

Chief Casia Sinco has provided the following information regarding required licensure fire inspections of day care facilities:

I spoke with DCF and explained that most fire departments were scaling back their inspections to minimize exposure and allow for repurposing of staff in this crisis. I explained that no fire service provider wanted to postpone an inspection that would result in a business losing its required certification. They informed me that they will not remove or deny a day care's license due to the lack of a fire safety inspection but will issue them a provisional or temporary license until such time as an inspection can be completed.
